The Art of Danish Living

How to Find Happiness In and Out of Work

Meik Wiking

A beautiful, research-backed guide with illustrations, photography and inspiration for how to live and work like the happiest people in the world.

It is well known that Denmark is one of the happiest nations in the world, and this is true in the workplace, too. Almost two thirds of Danes report a high level of job satisfaction and 58% would carry on working even if they no longer needed to. They even have a word that means 'happiness at work' - arbejdsglæde - and yet, the rest of the world are struggling with a burnout epidemic, so where are we going wrong?

Based on a new study from The Happiness Research Institute in Copenhagen, Meik reveals exactly that. He suggests a more holistic approach to life and work complete with simple tips, such as: creating a 'smile file' of moments where you've made a difference, or 'job-crafting' by finding the tasks that bring you the most joy and amplifying them. Meik's latest masterpiece provides inspiration and simple tools we all need to reduce stress, increase our sense of purpose, and live the Danish way.

A style icon's legacy book for a devoted international following. For lovers of The Fashion Book, Louis Vuitton Catwalk, Vivienne Westwood Catwalk, The Creative Act and The Warmth of the Heart Prevents the Body From Rusting.

This is not a book of secrets – I have no secrets. Sorry to disappoint if that's what you're looking for. I have some good stories though. And a few ideas. This book is about living, creating and colour. Because creativity and colour matter. I don't want you to dress like me or think like me – that's not the idea of this book. I want you to find the colours, confidence and creative inspiration that reflect you. My life has been filled with love, wonder and a very deep, incurable curiosity. This book is my treasure trove of inspiration, influences and ideas: My source. Be brave. Find your source. What makes you happy?

Much love, Iris x

Iris Apfel (@iris.apfel) is the renowned American businesswoman, interior designer, fashion icon and a prolific collector of and authority on antique textiles. In 1950 she founded Old World Weavers with her husband Carl, an international textile manufacturing company specializing in reproducing antique fabrics. She was a consultant to the White House during nine presidential administrations and produced fabric that still hangs in the Gold Room today. In 2005, the Costume Institute at the Metropolitan Museum of Art staged Rara Avis, a blockbuster exhibit of her clothing and accessories, making her the first living person who was not a fashion designer to be so honored. In 2014, she was the subject of director Albert Maysles' award-winning film Iris. An associate professor at the University of Texas, she is the recipient of numerous awards, including a special award from the Women Together Foundation at the United Nations for her lifelong dedication and support of artisans around the world. In 2018, at the age of 96, she was the oldest person to be turned into a Barbie doll. In 2023, at the age of 102, Iris wrote Colorful, to be published on her 103rd birthday.

How to Wear Everything

Kay Barron

From the Fashion Director of NET-A-PORTER, a timeless and essential guide to dressing for everywhere and everything.

How to Wear Everything is a celebration of clothes; of wearing what works for you, despite what the trends say; of finding that ever-elusive perfect pair of jeans.

Alongside words of wisdom from fashion icons including Sarah Jessica Parker, Jodie Turner Smith, Law Roach, Monica Bellucci and Sofia Richie Grange, NET-A-PORTER's Fashion Director Kay Barron shares in the simplest - sometimes most brutally honest - of terms the expertise she has gleaned from over two decades in the fashion industry.

With practical advice on how to dress for every occasion, find the right fit and care for your clothes and accessories, it strips away the façade of the fashion industry to reveal its best-kept secret: getting dressed is not that hard.

ART & CULTURE

Reframing Blackness In Western Art

Alayo Akinkugbe

Imprint: Merky Books
Editor: Helen Conford
Pub Date: 20 March 2025
 256 Pages • 129 × 198

Reframing Blackness* is a ground breaking publication that will challenge the way Blackness and art are perceived.

An original and wide-ranging riposte to the current understanding of Blackness in Western art and museums, from a rising star.

From the African diaspora to Ancient Egypt and Western art, Blackness has been distinctly missing from discussions of art history. In Reframing Blackness, art historian Alayo Akinkugbe challenges this void, bringing it into the mainstream and interrogating its consequences on culture, society and education.

Alayo explores the presentation of Black figures in western Art, Blackness in museums, contemporary art from Africa and its diaspora and Blackness in the curriculum. This is a book that will unveil a long buried but integral part of our collective art history and start a much needed conversation.

Accessible and incredibly refreshing, Reframing Blackness tells the history of art as it's never been told before.

Alayo Akinkugbe graduated from the University of Cambridge with a BA in History of Art in 2021 and she is the founder of @ABlackHistoryOfArt on Instagram, a platform which showcases emerging and overlooked Black artists, sitters, curators and thinkers from art history and today. She recently worked on the curatorial team of the groundbreaking exhibition In the Black Fantastic, at the Hayward Gallery. She contributed to the book, African Artists: From 1882 to Now and has also written for various arts publications.

Lessons for Young Artists

David Gentleman

Imprint: Particular Books

Editor: Chloe Currens

Pub Date: 6 March 2025

160 Pages • 129 x 198

A master hands over his tools in this generous, gentle book of artistic advice.

We are all artists as children, painting and drawing each day. Most of us stop when we get older—but David Gentleman kept going. For over ninety years he has been drawing, painting, engraving and printing; rising to become one of Britain's best known and most loved artists. His watercolours have filled galleries; his iconic woodcuts are emblazoned across posters, book jackets and train stations; his stamps have made their way to the furthest corners of the world.

Here, the great, polymathic artist and craftsman shares what he has learned over the course of a lifetime of making and thinking about art. Unlike his contemporaries, Gentleman was never a teacher; his lessons are a sequence of unconventional prompts and reflections that will deepen your relationship with your art, and with the world around you.

Sincere, practical and unpretentious, Gentleman's insights are a breath of fresh air. Here are new ways to focus, notice the world, and cultivate your own style; techniques to evolve your work, from playing with time to painting in bad weather; methods for getting the most out of mistakes and negative criticism; and, above all, reminders to return, always, to the simple delights of creativity.

With lush illustrations, anecdotes, and explanations of how he made some of his most famous work, this is a unique guide to the nature and practice of art-making which will encourage and inspire artists young and old.

David Gentleman is a painter and printmaker, working in many mediums. His work is held in many major galleries, including Tate, the V&A and the British Museum. He has designed British postage stamps and coins, and the platform-length mural at Charing Cross on the underground. His studio is at the top of an early Victorian house in Camden Town between the crowded, rackety Camden Lock and the green spaces of Regent's Park and Primrose Hill.

GARDENING & NATURE

Growing

The power of living and nurturing with the seasons

Ramona Jones

Imprint: Ebury

Editor: Emily Brickell, Laura Higginson

Pub Date: 6 March 2025

256 pages • 246 x 189

Find a sense of calm and escapism through gardening, from neurodivergent content creator and BBC talent Ramona Jones (720k+ followers)

A holistic take on gardening that insightfully draws connections between green spaces, neurodiversity and mental well-being. This is Monty Don's The Complete Gardener for a new generation of growers who are as passionate about protecting nature as they are growing beautiful and delicious things. For readers who loved Wintering by Katherine May, escaped into The Farm Table by Julius Roberts and were inspired by the visual feast of The Art of Home by Shea McGee.

In Growing, Ramona Jones pulls together practical advice alongside seasonal diary-style essays that reflect on the symbiotic relationship between us and the land, sharing the emotional learnings that she gleans from connecting with nature through each season: the reawakening of Spring that reaps the rewards of work done in the Summer and Autumn, the still of Winter teaching us that rest is an essential part of life. Each seasonal section includes thematic features, such as no-mow May and keeping animals, together with practical advice on jobs to tackle at that time of year.

Mona's core message of "keep growing and keep going" teaches us that there is no failure, only growth and shows us that connecting with nature can provide so much more than the fruits of our labour, with valuable life lessons around surrendering control, embracing mess and practicing patience.

Ramona Jones (@monalogue) is a neurodivergent content creator from Somerset who documents life from her 250-year-old cottage to an audience of over 1 million followers. Her content promotes a sense of escapism and calm through gardens and slow living, particularly for other neurodivergent individuals. Ramona has been featured on Buzzfeed, Insider, Bored Panda, The Independent and The National Autistic Society. She has featured on BBC Gardeners' World and BBC Radio Bristol, outlining the importance of recognising autism in women and non-binary people.

Spanish Garden

Monty Don, Photographs by Derry Moore

Imprint: BBC Books
Editor: Celine Nyssens
Pub Date: 7 November 2024
 288 Pages • 262 x 250

Based on his new BBC travel series, best-selling author Monty Don takes us on a personal journey through the gardens and green spaces of Spain.

For over a decade, Monty Don has travelled the world, using gardens and green spaces to get under the skin of our most beloved cities and countries. Many of his destinations were well-known to him. For his latest journey, though, he explored Spain as a relative newcomer - and he kept a detailed diary of his travels.

Starting in Madrid and working his way north through the verdant gardens of Galicia, the Basque country and Barcelona, Monty then heads south to the rugged tropical climes of Mallorca, Alicante, Andalucia, Malaga, and Seville. It's a chance for him to explore how Spain has evolved from the darker days after the civil war to its successful transition to democracy over fifty years ago, tracing those changes through its gardens - from the more conventional gardens created after the war to the rich and inventive approaches of contemporary designers.

Accompanied by Derry Moore's stunning photography, Spanish Garden is a remarkable and personal journey through one of the most popular country destinations on earth.

He has written a weekly gardening column for the Daily Mail since 2004, and published over 20 books, including the best-sellers Down to Earth, Nigel: My Family and Other Dogs, and My Garden World. Japanese Gardens, his book with Derry Moore, was shortlisted for the Edward Stanford Travel Writing Award.

A Year in a Small Garden

Creating a Beautiful Garden in Any Space

Frances Tophill

Imprint: BBC Books

Editor: Phoebe Lindsley

Pub Date: 25 April 2024

256 Pages • 246 x 189

Follow rising star Frances Tophill as she creates a beautiful small garden from scratch and learn how to recreate it at home.

A Year in a Small Garden follows Frances Tophill as she creates her new garden in a terraced house in Devon. Working in a small space, the book documents her journey to bring life to her garden, including tips and tricks for you to achieve similar results in whatever spaces you have at home.

The book is structured around the stages of building her small garden, and branches out to include small community gardens Frances works with, as well as projects to create in small spaces at home - with a focus on growing food and planting in a sustainable, environmentally friendly way.

Featuring new photography shot throughout the year, as well as Frances's own journal and garden notebooks, this book will not only give you an insight into Frances' journey creating her first garden - but will help you create a beautiful, productive, garden at home.

Frances Tophill is a British horticulturist, conservationist, author, and television presenter known for her contributions to Love Your Garden and Gardeners' World. She studied for a bachelor's degree in horticulture with plantsmanship from the Scottish Agricultural College and Royal Botanic Garden Edinburgh. A Year in A Small Garden is her sixth book. In June 2022, her first show-garden won a platinum medal and best in show at Gardeners' World Live at the NEC in Birmingham. Frances also works with the Royal Horticultural Society's Campaign for School Gardening to promote gardening to young people, and is a keen quilter and amateur potter.

 US & Canada (William Morrow, HarperCollins)

An inspiring tale of friendship, life, death, change and loss featuring new characters, from the global best-selling author of Big Panda and Tiny Dragon.

James Norbury's most moving story yet: a beautifully illustrated tale of an orphaned puppy lost in the woods who falls under the protection of an aged, dying wolf, setting off an improbable and impossible adventure together – to follow the moon. As they make their way through day and night in a wintry landscape, James expertly weaves a broader tapestry of spiritual reflections on rebirth, the transience of beauty, acceptance, resilience and self-sacrifice.

With all the hallmarks of James's beautiful artwork and storytelling power, this new book has a level of emotional and philosophical depth that goes even further than his previous books, to produce something as moving as The Lion King and as profound as The Alchemist.

Often drawing from her Muslim heritage, her artwork is also a celebration of Islam and the Muslim community around the world.

The Gift

Lucy Dunbar

Imprint: Michael Joseph
Editor: Daniel Bunyard
Pub Date: 14 November 2024
176 Pages • 230 x 189

A charming collection of beautifully hand drawn short stories and watercolour illustrations making a thoughtful and inspiring gift for loved ones that promises to brighten their day. Perfect for fans of James Norbury's Big Panda and Tiny Dragon, The Journey and The Cat Who Taught Zen.

For Lucy Dunbar, Christmas is everything – a magical time of hope, togetherness, family, love – and, in her art, she seeks to capture that magic in every line and brushstroke.

From celebrating the kindness of strangers and commemorating loss to reflections on the passing of time and the beginning of opportunities as the old year becomes new, Lucy's work combines beautiful artwork with words that speak to the heart.

In this, her first book, she'll be drawing together a range of her most popular artwork, framing it within a series of intertwined short stories, to create an irresistible and perennially appealing gift.

This is James Norbury meets Raymond Brigg's The Snowman with a touch of Love, Actually...!

Lucy Dunbar (@lucyclaireillustration) is an illustrator and designer based in Oxfordshire who came to prominence by honouring the likes of Queen Elizabeth II and Matthew Perry with art drawn from behind, always leaving the story open for her viewers to interpret for themselves.

Having been diagnosed with type 1 diabetes in her early twenties, Lucy temporarily lost her sight. After she'd regained it, she made a promise to herself to draw every day. From that commitment, came her hugely popular online success. She now has an established and fast-growing social media following with 331k followers on Instagram. This is her first book.

EXTRA TIME! Now with even more rules.

A pithy, funny - and newly updated - guide to football, from one of the world's best-loved football media outlets with 1.5 million+ subscribers.

Yes, football is about stars, goals and glory. But it's also about the intense calculations and movements being made by the twenty-one other players on the pitch. It's about the ticking clock, and the bellowing fans, and their impact on player psychology. It's about the coach, the club owner, and the director of football, who are watching, scouting and scheming from the side-lines. It's about money and data, about geopolitics and architecture, and even about climate change.

Football is the most popular sport in the world, and Tifo Football is one of the world's most popular football channels. In this short, illustrated guide, its creators share sixty-two simple 'rules' for understanding and enjoying the beautiful game-both on and off the pitch.

Covering the key concepts, tactics and philosophies that are shaping the sport today, How to Watch Football reveals surprising new perspectives on familiar elements of gameplay, while highlighting lesser-known aspects of the industry and its history.

Following a cup-winning first season with over 30,000 copies sold, this new edition will have exciting bonus material - ten new rules, and an afterword explaining how to start your own football club.

With well over 1.5 million subscribers and 100 million annual views, Tifo Football is one of the world's best-loved football media outlets. Launched in 2016 to provide intelligent, illustrated analysis of the sport, it is widely regarded as a trusted source of information and insight, with videos and podcast episodes regularly explaining basics, busting myths, and sharing surprising new findings with fans. It is part of The Athletic, who provide unrivalled football insight and coverage across a range of formats from written to video and audio.

A visually elaborate graphic memoir; a homecoming in reverse.

This Beautiful, Ridiculous City is about moving across the world to escape a deeply abusive relationship, about recovering one's memories from fragmentation through writing, about finding one's way home through food, and about New York through an immigrant perspective.

It uses the personal as a window into gendered abuse and its effect on memory, as well as into cultural imperialism, migration, liminality and assimilation. It is also about the implications of deeply loving and calling a place home where you are, on some level, always seen as foreign and Other.

Kay's work cleverly integrates text and images and explores social inequality pertaining to gender, citizenship and class in an incredibly emotive manner, and yet intentionally focuses on finding joy, to make room for the other, brighter halves of immigrant lives that signal new beginnings, possibilities and hopes.

Kay Sohini (@kaysohini) is a comics maker based in New York. She has a PhD from Stony Brook University, where she drew her doctoral dissertation, Drawing Unbelonging, as a comic. The project was supported by a generous grant from the Mellon Foundation and the American Council of Learned Society. Her work has been published in the Nib, Studies in Comics, Graphic Mundi's Covid Chronicles and INKS among others.

Powerful visual poetry exploring the reality of what it means to be human - from Instagram phenomenon, artist Jordan Bolton.

Most of life is made up of mundane moments on ordinary days. Every moment, every good day, bad day and average day, had to happen, exactly the way that it did for you to exist. Everything that made you, connects us all in small, invisible and beautiful ways.

This first comic collection from artist Jordan Bolton explores the fleeting details that unite us. Jordan brings together the visual language of comics with the heartfelt language of poetry, to express moments of love and heartbreak, embarrassment and shame, hope and disappointment, grief and happiness. Including new and unseen comics, the book transitions from outside to inside, public to private, through a sequence of disarmingly relatable experiences.

Everything is ordinary.
Everything is extraordinary.
Everything is connected.

Jordan Bolton (@jordanbolton) is an artist from Manchester, UK. The Russian Detective

Based on the nineteenth-century bestseller

Carol Adlam

Imprint: Jonathan Cape
Editor: Dan Franklin
Pub Date: 7 March 2024
112 Pages • 297 x 210

A stunning detective story from the winner of the World Illustration Award

In this stunning reimagining of a nineteenth-century Russian crime thriller from the world of Dostoevsky, Carol Adlam presents Charlie Fox, stunt journalist, magician, liar and thief, who reluctantly returns to her hometown of Nowheregrad to investigate the murder of Elena Ruslanova, daughter of a fabulously wealthy glass manufacturer.

In Nowheregrad Charlie finds herself caught up in a multi-layered story that is told through the richly varied visual devices of the time. With the unwitting assistance of her lover, Netochka, Charlie unravels the mystery of the Bobrov family, only to face the truth about herself.

Exquisitely drawn and compellingly told, Adlam's complex, elegant narrative brings to life the lost legacies of early crime fiction and the first women journalists and detectives.

Carol Adlam holds a PhD in Russian and an MA in Illustration from the Cambridge School of Art. She won a World Illustration Award in 2018, and was shortlisted in both 2016 and 2015. She was a writer-in-residence at the University of St Andrews in 2020 and a Visiting Fellow at the University of Cambridge in 2021. Carol lives in Nottingham with her wife.

French (Editions ça et là)

A dual character study of two contrasting women at different stages in their lives, but with some surprising affinities.

Septuagenarian historian and university professor Margaret Crypt is being courted by the history-orientated TV production company Giant Past TV & Media - the brainchild-cum-vanity-project of ubiquitous and extravagantly pony-tailed self-made TV historian Allan Hands.

As Margaret is drawn somewhat reluctantly into the world of television production, she forms a tentative bond with Lucy, a young producer several decades Margaret's junior. Both women are facing difficulties in their respective lives - Lucy recently heartbroken by a her long-term fiancé, Margaret grieving for her older sister (her best friend and housemate for the last 30 years).

Though Margaret instinctively shuns any prospect of the conventional lure of appearing on television, she begins to show rather more interest on learning that the potential programme could be a means to funding further research into her particular passion - the life and work of an obscure 17th century embalmer, doctor and poet named John Witham Preece...

Looking at themes such as unlikely friendships, positive and negative solitudes, ageism, the nature of the introvert, anti-careerism, the cult of personality, graveyards in the rain, bad knees...Dear Historian is an irreverent and wonderfully witty novel in graphic form.

Joff Winterhart is an illustrator and film-maker and plays drums in his band, Bucky. He lives in Bristol, where he walks his greyhound, Peep-Peep. He is the author of Days of the Bagnold Summer, which was shortlisted for the 2012 Costa Award for Best Novel.

Aristotle's Cuttlefish* is the follow up to Flake. Set in the same fictional north west town of Dobbiston, Aristotle's Cuttlefish is story of grief, unlikely friendship and lost property.

Mr Daniels is a solitary type, though not entirely by choice. By day he works in the Dobbiston County Council's Lost Property Office. He works alone, filing and categorising the myriad of lost objects in his own idiosyncratic style.

We meet Toby on the morning of his first day at the Council on work experience. Whilst he was meant to be shadowing Ben from accounts, there's been an admin mix up. With no other options Toby is reluctantly sent to the basement and the Lost Property Office. At first the non plussed Toby is shown how to log new lost items and file them away in the office. It is only when Toby asks what happens to those things that are never collected that Mr Daniels gestures towards the storeroom door. As it turns out, those things left for more than six months have something of an interesting fate.

Matthew Dooley won the Observer Graphic Short Story Prize and his debut FLAKE, published by Cape in 2020, went on to win the Wodehouse Bollinger Prize, the first time for a graphic novel. It was also a Guardian Book of the Year. Matthew works in the House of Commons.

The Crystal Vase

Astrid Goldsmith

Imprint: Jonathan Cape
Editor: Hannah Westland
Pub Date: 5 June 2025
176 Pages • 240 x 170

The Crystal Vase is based on a true story: the death in 2015 of Astrid Goldsmith's paternal grandmother, Gisela—a cousin of Anne Frank who escaped Germany in 1939—and the comedy of errors which accompanied the organisation of her Jewish funeral service in Freiburg, in the heart of Germany's Black Forest.

Structured in seven chapters, each named after one of the seven stages of grief, The Crystal Vase examines how family mythologies are formed and reformed over time—all in the fraught setting of a funeral and its aftermath, as the family argue over Gisela's possessions and age-old tensions rise to the surface.

With echoes of Posy Simmonds and a rich cast of characters—from Frau Katz, the despotic ruler of the Freiburg synagogue to Peter, Astrid's mad intellectual uncle—The Crystal Vase will be a funny, plangent and sometimes outrageous story, from a future star graphic novelist.

Astrid Goldsmith (@mockduckstudios) is a stop-motion animator and writer-director who lives in Folkestone, England. Her graphic short story, A Funeral in Freiburg, upon which her forthcoming debut full-length graphic novel The Crystal Vase is based, was selected as the winner of the 2022 Observer/Jonathan Cape prize by a panel of judges including Alison Bechdel. Former Jonathan Cape Publisher and graphic novels expert Dan Franklin called it one of the best entries the competition has ever seen.

Ottolenghi's first major cookbook since the era-defining Ottolenghi SIMPLE and Ottolenghi FLAVOUR. With over 100 evocative, irresistible recipes alongside stories of childhood and home.

This is comfort food, Ottolenghi-style.

In his much-anticipated new book, Yotam Ottolenghi brings his inspiring, flavour-forward approach to comfort cooking, delivering new classics that taste of home.

A bowl of pasta becomes Caramelised Onion Orecchiette with Hazelnuts & Crispy Sage, a warming soup is Cheesy Bread Soup with Savoy Cabbage & Cavolo Nero, and a plate of mash is transformed into Garlicky Aligot Potato with Leeks & Thyme.

Weaving memories of childhood and travel with over 100 irresistible recipes, Ottolenghi COMFORT is a celebration of food and home – of the connections we make as we cook, and pass on from generation to generation.

100 recipes inspired by communal living that show us how we can enjoy vibrant, delicious and enjoyable meals while being sustainable, both financially and environmentally.

The best meals are always the ones we share, which is why Rosie Kellett has created 100 delicious recipes inspired by seasonal ingredients to bring people together.

Rosie Kellett lives in a communal warehouse where each person puts £25 into a pot every week towards a shared grocery bill. With that money, Rosie and her housemates create mouth-watering, nutritious and budget-friendly meals inspired by the fresh ingredients each season brings for them to share all week long. It's a cooking ethos that minimises food waste, prioritises local ingredients and turns ordinary meals into social occasions. Each recipe is a testament to how we can enjoy delicious food with a low carbon footprint on a sustainable budget, and how everything tastes even better when shared with others.

Discover inspiring recipes for every occasion from breakfasts such as Sourdough Pancakes with Seasonal Fruits and Flaked Almonds and Caramelised Banana Loaf, to savoury mains like Citrus Mackerel Spaghetti, and Roasted Carrot, Cumin and Coconut Soup with Coriander Salsa, and 'cakies' to enjoy after your meal like Lemon and Passionfruit Party Pavlova. Either cook once and easily save portions for later or turn meals into special moments by gathering your friends and loved ones around the table.

Rosie Kellett (@rosiekellett) started her career as an actress, but always had a deep love of food and worked in the restaurant industry alongside her acting work at several places, including E5 Bakehouse, where she was inspired by their seasonal approach to cooking. In 2023, she took to the internet to share her love of food, launching a supper club and a best-selling Substack newsletter and going viral on social media with videos of her beautiful dishes and inspiring communal lifestyle. In For Dinner is her first book.

Clear concept-led cookery from a platform which has seen rapid growth in the past six months. For fans of The Roasting Tin and Good Food Meals for One.

In a culinary landscape that primarily caters for couples, families, or larger groups, Eleanor Wilkinson wants to give people who cook for themselves the tools to make delicious food that doesn't take hours, or leave you with a sinkful of washing up.

She believes that cooking for yourself is a huge act of self-care; her aim is to bring the joy and excitement back to the kitchen, showing solo cooks that they don't have to choose between eating leftovers for three days straight or sticking to soup!

Eleanor's recipes will also offer up potential variations, substitutes or common ingredients between the recipes, so that cooks can fight food waste and make sure they are getting the most of their ingredients, and their money.

With recipes such as a One Pot, One Portion Lasagne, Chicken and Cottage Pie and an unforgettable Self-Saucing Chocolate Mug Cake, cooking for one has never tasted so good.

Eleanor Wilkinson (@eleanorgwilkinson) is a 27-year-old content creator and recipe developer from East Yorkshire. Her love of food and cooking inspired her to start sharing recipes on social media; her One Pot, One Portion series - recipes for people who cook, eat or live alone, and are tired of washing up - have garnered millions of views on TikTok and a community of nearly 600K people on Instagram.

Rukmini Iyer (@missminifer) is the best-selling author of the Roasting Tin series, selling over 1.75 million copies worldwide. They've transformed the cookery space in the UK, leading the one-tin, one-pot and one-pan revolution, and remain firm favourites among fans of maximum-flavour, minimum-hassle cooking. She grew up with the best of three food cultures: Bengali and South Indian food from her parents' Indian heritage, along with classic British 80s mac and cheese, sponge pudding, and cheese and pineapple on a stick.

Rukmini is a columnist for the Guardian and BBC Gardeners' World magazine, and writes for numerous publications, including BBC Good Food magazine, Waitrose and Fortnum & Mason. She strongly believes that making time to eat well - for oneself or for family dinners - is an integral part of the day, and as a new mother with limited time but a good appetite, she's passionate about helping other households cook great, minimum-effort dinners.

Soup for One

Maylasan-inspired cooking for the soul

Julie Lin

Imprint: Ebury Press
Editor: Nell Warner
Pub Date: 1 May 2025
288 Pages • 240 x 170

Delicious recipes and heartfelt tales of self-discovery from Scottish-Malaysian chef and TV presenter Julie Lin. Soup for One celebrates Julie's mixed heritage and encourages the home cook to trust their instincts and thrive through food.

'Season the dish until the ghost of our ancestors tells us to stop'

More than a cookbook, Soup for One celebrates all parts of Julie's identity (Scottish, Chinese and Malaysian) and sets out to nourish the reader with heart-warming stories of food and self-discovery, reminding everyone of the threads that tie us all together.

Julie's approach to cooking is unique and fresh, she encourages you to test your palette, adjust recipes to your liking and broaden your ideas of authenticity. Rather than lengthy recipes and complex processes, her agak-agak style is all about cooking with soul, using intuition and common sense to create delicious and accessible dishes with explosive flavours.

Recipes include: Lao gan ma cumin ground lamb spaghetti, Gochuchang mac and cheese with dulce breadcrumbs, Satay roasted chicken thighs with peanut sauce, Crispy chilli egg mayo bagel with dill, Singapore chilli crab, Venison char siu bao, Chocolate soy sauce brownies, and Croissant bread and butter pudding with mango cream and pistachios.

Corker

A deeply unserious wine book

Hannah Crosbie

Imprint: Ebury Press
Editor: Celia Palazzo
Pub Date: 28 March 2024
192 Pages • 198 x 130

An approachable and informal guide to wine with a clear concept, from new wine expert, Hannah Crosbie. For fans of The 24-hour Wine Expert and The Noble Rot Wine Book

From wine writer and TV presenter Hannah Crosbie, Corker will become the go-to guide that matches wine with life's important (and unimportant) events.

So much of what we drink and how we drink it is rooted in occasion. What bottle do you buy the first time you meet the in-laws? What do you order on a date that's going well? If it's not going well? What should you drink on a plane? Pairing sage advice with Hannah's signature tongue-in-cheek humour, this is a deeply unserious wine book that celebrates the joy of everyday drinking.

Corker is a guide for wine novices staring nonplussed at supermarket shelf, as well as wine lovers who might already know their Chablis from their Chenin, but still need some inspiration when picking the best bottle for their budget and the occasion.

Hannah Crosbie (@hannahcrosb) is a wine personality and writer from Edinburgh, living in London. Often referred to as 'The Nigella of Wine', she is the most exciting voice in wine today. Her informed, albeit tongue-in-cheek approach creates a relaxed and refreshing space to learn 'while-u-drink', demystifying the esoteric world of wine. She has appeared on Sunday Brunch and writes about wine for a variety of publications, regularly contributing to Soho House, Mob Kitchen, FRIEZE, Decanter, Courier, Refinery29 and Pipette Magazine.

Penguin Michael Joseph publishes some of the world's most popular authors. We specialise in general fiction, crime, thriller, cookery, memoir and lifestyle books. Many of our authors are now, or soon will be, household names, here in the UK and around the world. We seek out the very best authors in their field and bring their books to the widest possible audience. We take an author's vision and turn it into a beautiful book people can't help but talk about. In a crowded market, our books shine.

GENERAL FICTION

Marian Keyes, Jojo Moyes, Liane Moriarty, Lesley Pearce, Dawn French, Stephen Fry. Our novelists are recognised around the world as the finest storytellers anywhere. These are writers that readers come back to every year because, without fail, they tell entertaining, thrilling and, above all, enjoyable stories every single time. We sign up and launch only those debut novelists whose stories we believe the world will fall in love with. Whatever you're interested in we have a bestselling author to spin you a bewitching tale.

CRIME FICTION

Penguin Michael Joseph's crime and thriller list is not stuffed with the usual suspects. Each and every one of our writers, has their own unique – and sometimes maverick – take on their field. Whether it is historical epics or action-packed adventures, missing-person cases or twisty psychological thrillers, our bestselling authors strive to bring something new to the genre. You can count on us for gripping adventures from Clive Cussler to Gregg Hurwitz, Tim Weaver, C.J. Tudor, Gillian McAllister and Claire Douglas.

NON-FICTION MEMOIR

It could be the secrets behind the success of the already famous or it could be a newly discovered tale – either way, we turn our authors' memoirs into memorable bestsellers. We only seek out people who've got a real story to tell, one that we believe readers are dying to hear and we help our authors connect with their audiences, hosting events up and down the country, where they can meet legions of fans, old and new. Dive into the worlds of names such as Stephen Fry, Daisy-May Cooper, Jeremy Clarkson and Raynor Winn.

COOKERY

Penguin Michael Joseph has been home to the country's bestselling cookery writer – Jamie Oliver – for over twenty years. As he has grown in stature so our list has swelled to include the brightest, freshest chefs, food writers and dieticians, helping us all to create scrumptious treats as well as eat healthily, cater for big occasions or cook family meals that cost just a few pennies. Our popular cookery authors include Nadiya Hussein, Amelia Freer and John Clark aka The Meal Prep King.

NON-FICTION LIFESTYLE

When it comes to books about how we live, Penguin Michael Joseph has the best authors with the very best advice. Whether you're seeking happiness through cleaning, wanting to feel energised and revitalised, looking for help with exercise or some style advice, or embarking on a full mindfulness regime, you're only a few pages away from a healthier, happier you. Our list of lifestyle books features confidence-boosting lifestyle hacks from Dr Julie, goal-getting tips from Roxie Nafousi and, of course, the unstoppable Queen of Clean, Mrs Hinch.
